DECCAN CHRONICLE

You've entered college and have got the 'fresh-er' goose bumps that most newbies face. But when you have awesome seniors and amazing lecturers who dedicate a special day or an event to you and your batch mates, you feel good about being part of your new institution.

Natasha Gupta, who is studying media studies at Centre for Management Studies, Bengaluru and her batch mates had an entire day set aside for them. "All the freshers were given a chance to showcase their talent. From dancing to singing to a fashion show to business quiz, we had it all. The most popular event was the best manager, where two people were crowned winners and they will represent the college in the upcoming fests."

The surprise of the day was when the seniors and teachers performed for the juniors! "One of my friends was adjudged the best singer in the solo singing competition. My other friends took part in the fashion show. Overall, the whole day was a lot of fun," she says.
